Dear Judge Webster:

We are pleased you have agreed to be the dinner speaker at the January 12 meeting of the Policy Committee of the Business Roundtable in New York City. I am sure you will find it an excellent opportunity to meet with the chief executive officers who make up our Policy Committee. We always have an open discussion and exchange of views.

We will, of course, be pleased to provide transportation for you. Please feel free to call me or the Roundtable staff should you have any questions. I am happy you will be able to join us on January 12.

Sincerely,

Roger B. Smith
Chairman

JUDGE:

RE: Speaking Invitation
The Business Roundtable
Links Club, New York City
~~10 November 1987~~ - 1/5/88

Mr. Roger B. Smith, President of General Motors and Chairman of The Business Roundtable, has invited you to be the dinner speaker at Business Roundtable's Policy Committee meeting on 10 November at the Links Club in New York City. The proposed format is an off-the-record meeting with 15 minutes of remarks followed by questions and answers. Your thoughts on international and intelligence issues would be of interest to this group. You could expect an audience of approximately 40 chief executive officers representing Roundtable member companies. A reception would be held at 6:00 p.m. and dinner at 7:00 p.m.

The Business Roundtable founded in 1972 has a membership composed of 160 major US Corporations that are represented by their CEO's. The Roundtable is considered an influential leadership forum for American business. According to the ORGANIZATIONAL ENCYCLOPEDIA, the members examine public issues that effect the economy and develop positions that reflect sound economic and social principals. (For list of Policy Committee members see brochure opposite.)

In your role as Director of Central Intelligence, I believe you would be well served to address these leading CEO's who represent many of the nation's largest companies. I forwarded to you an invitation from Brookings Institution which I recommended that you accept for 10 November. When Jim Johnston, Vice President for Industry-Government Relations for GM, hand delivered the Business Roundtable invitation to me, I mentioned to him that there might be a conflict on 10 November and he suggested 5 January. I recommend that you accept the invitation for the alternate date. If you agree, attached is a letter for your signature.

Dear Mr. Smith:

Thank you for your kind invitation to address the Policy Committee of the Business Roundtable at the Links Club on November 10th. I am very interested in speaking to your group, however, I have a prior commitment on that date. According to your Vice President of Industry-Government Relations James Johnston, January 5th would be a good time and that is open on my calendar. If this is agreeable, please contact my Director of Public Affairs, Bill Baker, so that we can confirm the arrangements.

Sincerely yours,

The Honorable William Webster
Director

Washington, D. C. 20505

Dear Judge Webster:

It is my great pleasure to invite you to be the dinner speaker at our next meeting of the Policy Committee of the Business Roundtable on November 10, 1987. The meetings are held at the Links Club in New York City. The meeting will begin with a reception at 6:00 p.m. and dinner at 7:00 p.m.

Approximately 40 chief executive officers of Roundtable member companies are normally in attendance. We ask our guest to speak for about 15 minutes or so and then respond to questions. The meeting and the discussion are informal and entirely off the record. It is an excellent opportunity for an exchange of views.

Our members would be keenly interested in your thoughts on international and intelligence issues.

It would be an honor and pleasure to have you speak to our group. We will, of course, be pleased to provide transportation for you. On behalf of the members of our Policy Committee, I hope you will accept our invitation.

Sincerely,

Roger B. Smith
Chairman
